

TO THE READER

This work will prove to be of interest and reward to the layperson and the scholar. If you are a casual reader, just avoid the footnotes and comparison pages. Reading only the body of the text, you will encounter some very interesting material—an adventure that will literally take you out of this world and into the new one to come.

If, on the other hand, you are a professor, keep your eyes on the footnotes and references. You will find that you, too, are swept off your feet. The footnotes and comparisons will certainly not allow you to become bored, as my many professor friends have told me. I sincerely hope you find this work interesting enough to live up to their enthusiasm.¹

And Abraham called the name of that place The LORD Will Provide, as it is said to this day, ‘In the mount of the LORD it will be provided’” (Genesis 22:13-14 NASB).
